

China-Europe solar Module Industrial Park Project

Overview

Can China's overseas industrial parks help reduce emissions?

Our research shows that transitioning China's overseas industrial parks to clean energy will sharply cut emissions in host countries, helping them reach their own climate change and renewable energy development goals.

Does China invest in overseas industrial parks?

Among the few countries that invest in overseas industrial parks — manufacturing and business facilities developed by one country and located in another — China's investment has been significant. Together with development assistance, investment in overseas industrial parks is a leading form of China's international investment.

Does Germany have a green energy partnership with China?

German Chancellor Olaf Scholz toured a China-Germany hydrogen technology cooperation project in Chongqing, southwest China, during his official visit to China in April. This underscores the extensive partnership between China and Germany in green energy, offering a glimpse into their broad collaboration.

Are energy parks a key engine for China's high-quality economic growth?

According to Wu Wei, an associate professor at the China Institute for Studies in Energy Policy at Xiamen University, such parks not only drive low-carbon development but also enhance enterprises' innovation capability, energy efficiency and informatization level, serving as a key engine for China's high-quality economic growth.
